Baker Is Best All Around
Third Baseman, Says Donovan

MANAGER BILL DONOVAN of the New York Americans says that he considers J. Franklin Baker the best all around third baseman in the American league. "He may not be as graceful as some others, but he more than makes up for this by his steady all around work," says Bill. "Baker can cover as much ground as any other man in the position, and as for pecking and pegging accurately no man has anything on him. He can also block the runner as cleverly as the next, and as a batter he is in a class by himself," explains the Yankee leader.

ARE PREPARINGGridiron Warriors at Various Colleges Working Hard.

HARVARD'S GOOD MATERIAL

Crimson Coaches Pleased With Conditions—Princeton Has Bright Outlook, Penn In For Good Coaching.

The gridiron campaign of 1916 is now on in full blast at a majority of the larger schools and colleges. At each of these institutions of learning the football candidates have been preparing for a campaign that gives every promise of resulting in one of the most interesting as well as one of the most important in the history of the fall pastime.

Prospects at many of the leading colleges are anything but encouraging. Many have lost the backbone of their squads, while others are experimenting with new coaching systems. Yale and Pennsylvania are the two who have installed entirely new systems of gridiron instruction. Both of these colleges have suffered much in the past few years from what many believed to be an inferior brand of coaching. The men they have selected to replace former leaders are of the caliber that should eliminate further argument toward any other changes.

Tad Jones and Bob Foltwell, the newly appointed head coaches at New Haven and Philadelphia, respectively, are two athletes who have demonstrated their worth as players and whose efforts as instructors have been crowned with remarkable success.

Jones, as instructor at Exeter, has developed the fastest and best all around playing school teams of the past three years. The majority of the men who have graduated from Jones' school of instruction have more than made good as collegiate performers. Yale, Princeton, Harvard, Syracuse and Lafayette are some of the places at which Jones' former pupils have made good. In fact many of the men whom the former New Haven star will have as candidates for places on the varsity eleven are athletes who obtained their first knowledge of football affairs from Jones. Captain Cupid Black, one of the greatest guards that Yale has had in the past few years, is a former pupil of his new head instructor. Also Jones has surrounded himself with some of the greatest football brains at New Haven.

The return of Walter Camp to the football councils of New Haven will no doubt prove very beneficial to Jones and his assistants.

Foltwell Is Aggressive.
Bob Foltwell, the University of Pennsylvania football hope, is of aggressive type as a football coach. Foltwell believes that any candidate who has the determination to stick to his work will in time develop into a sterling player. Every one at Philadelphia is sure to find favor with the new head coach if he shows any real fighting spirit.

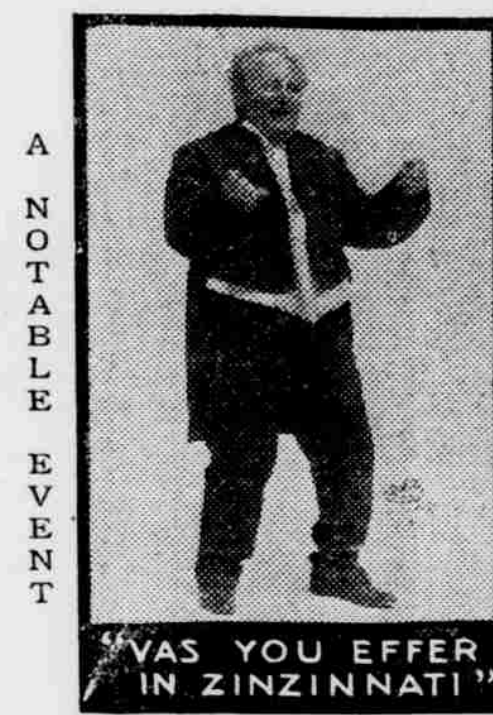

Foltwell's great success at Washington and Jefferson was due in great measure to the overabundance of fighting spirit that his charges displayed in all their battles. Foltwell's players were never known to quit. They out-fought the best in the game and for that reason earned for themselves the respect of the entire football world.

At Pennsylvania Foltwell will find that the fighting spirit of the Quakers has fallen below the low water mark. In many struggles of the past few seasons the Red and Blue representatives have failed to live up to the high standard of battling proficiency that former Penn teams established. They lacked the pep of a winning combination. With Foltwell to instill this fighting spirit into them from the very start of the season and with the prestige that his success as a coach demands from all, there are no real reasons why Penn should not regain her former leadership in the football world. At New Haven the situation is a great deal similar, and because of the changes in the coaching systems the early contests of both will be watched with considerable interest. Both are furnished with material.

High Class Material.
At Princeton and Harvard the situation resolves itself into a great deal of the same problem as last year. Harvard has abundance of high class material, and there is no real reason that can be set forth as to why the Crimson collegiate should not develop a representative squad of football during the present season.

Speedy John Rush, the Princeton mentor, will have the most evenly balanced squad that Tigrertown has had since her championship team of 1911. Last season Rush more than made good. It is seldom a new coach can take hold of affairs and get the self-made results as did Rush last season. The experience gained will be of great help to him in whipping together his combination this season.

Two Leaders Equipped.
Cornell and Pittsburgh, the two leaders of 1915, are well equipped with veteran material and should be fighting it out for the premier honors with the best of the country. At Ithaca Al Sharpe's plans are completed for one of the greatest changes in the football situation of modern times. Before Sharpe's advent Cornell was the football envy mark for many of the big eleven of the country.

Defeated T. T. Brittan in Final Golf Match—Mrs. H. E. Whitney Won Ladies' Prize.

L. L. Dunham yesterday afternoon won the golf championship of the Brattleboro Country Club, defeating T. T. Brittan in the final round 6 and 4. Dunham won all of his matches by good margins except in the semi-final round, when he beat Dennison Cowles, Jr., 1 up at 19 holes after the latter had led during a large part of the contest. The prize is the president's cup, a handsome solid silver trophy. The Brittan trophy for ladies, their main prize for the year, was won by Mrs. Harold E. Whitney, who played the nine holes in 61, which with her handicap of 22 gave her a net score of 39.

BARRY IN SIX WORLD'S SERIES.

Chief Bender Will Tie Him if Phillies Win the Pennant.

If Jack Barry of the Boston Red Sox and former star shortstopper of the great Athletic machine of a few years ago gets into many more world's series Holy Cross Jack can buy a club of his own and have private world's series just for his amusement.

By getting into the dizzy in the 1916 series he will be the first player to share in six world's series. In his five series, not one of which ran over six games, Jack pulled down $14,685.55. That isn't more than a dol' in the fortunes of some of our regular millionaires, but there are a lot of persons who could use it. Jack says it keeps him in gasoline during the winter.

Barry's first check and received in 1910, when the Athletics got $2,082.75 apiece for kicking the Cubs in five games. In 1911 the A's got their biggest world's series checks. Barry collected $3,564.50 that fall for helping beat the Giants in six games. In 1913 Jack again did his little bit in helping the Mack machine run over the Giants, and drew down $3,246.36 for five days work.

Barry only had to take a loser's share once, but it was worth while. In 1914 Jack made only one hit during the four straight games the Athletics lost to the Braves, but each Mackman got a slice of $2,031.65. This was only $31 less than the Athletics got for winning from the Cubs in 1910.

Connie Mack kindly sold Barry to Boston in midseason of 1915, and Jack took in his biggest world's series haul. ## Sporting Notes.

The Chicago city series will begin tomorrow.
Alexander's defeat of the Braves yesterday was his 16th shutout of the season.

Jennings expects Ehmke to show next year as one of the greatest twirlers of modern baseball.

The Red Sox began today using Braves field in order to once more get accustomed to it for the world's series.

The Veterans Combs yesterday with the bases full and two out fanned Kauff and after that was never in trouble.

Weather permitting Dug Smith and his Millers Falls baseball club will play off the third game next Sunday, Oct. 8, at Island park.

Philadelphia again reached the top of the National league ladder yesterday for a few minutes until the Braves defeated them in the second game.

With Marquard apparently back in form the hopes of the Brooklyn team of winning the national league pennant are better than they were a week ago when the "Rube" apparently had lost his cunning.

Unaided, only 27 pitchers have succeeded in defeating the champion Red Sox this year, Harry Harper and Walter Johnson of the Nationals and "Red" Russell of the White Sox being the only men with three legitimate triumphs over the title holders. The last named let the champs acquire only two runs in the three full games he was successful in. Harper permitted Duffy Lewis & Co. five markers and so did Johnson.

The American league pitchers who have taken a pair of falls out of the Carrigans, without anyone else giving help, are Eddie Plank, Dave Davenport, Bob Groom and Ernie Koob of St. Louis, Ray Keating of New York, Claude Williams of Chicago, George Danks and Bill James of Detroit, and Stanley Coveleskie of Cleveland. Danks, with one run allowed in his two victories, set the pace in scarcity of counters. Plank permitted two runs; Groom, three; Koob, three; Keating, three; Stanley Coveleskie, three; Williams, four; James, four, and Davenport, six.

NO TRACE OF MISSING MAN.

H. W. Barrett, Mt. Holly Farmer, Left Home Sept. 11.

LUDLOW, Oct. 3. — No trace has been found of Herbert W. Barrett, a Mt. Holly farmer who disappeared on the 11th of last month, after driving to this village and asking somebody to take his team back home. He took the train here, supposedly, but in spite of notices sent out by Deputy Sheriff McDonald, no word as to his whereabouts has been received.

It was at first thought that mental illness was responsible for his disappearance, but his wife is inclined to think that worry over financial obligations led him to go away. The note sent back to his home informed her that he would never be found, and that she could do what she pleased with the property.

Barrett was 33 years old, 6 feet tall, and had a reputation as a man of square dealing and an ordinarily successful farmer. His friends are hardly ready to believe that he has made away with himself.

According to the statistics of the year 1915, which are now available at Petroland, the population of Russia increased over 53,000,000 or 42 per cent since 1897. It increased over 8,500,000, or more than 2 per cent since 1914. The total population is set down at 182,182,600.
